3. Pandemic Flu

Dr Gregor Smith (Deputy Chief Medical Officer) and NR (Head of Resilience Response and Communications Unit, Scottish Government) to introduce and facilitate discussion:

- Do our organisations understand the potential impact of a serious flu pandemic?
- Pandemic flu is the highest rated risk in the National Risk Assessment. Do we believe that this is reflected in the priority it is afforded, in both local and national planning?
- Are we clear on how our own organisation should and/or does work with partner organisations in planning for and responding to a serious flu pandemic – particularly in relation to local and regional resilience partnerships and the new Health & Social Care Partnerships – as well as the inter-dependencies of Business Continuity plans ?
- Given the role of the SRP to set strategic direction and priorities for resilience in Scotland as well as to provide collective assurance to Ministers, what can we do to support pandemic planning?

SRP Paper 3:2 provides key background and information relating to the discussion questions.
