Thanks Imran. I've discussed with Chris.

He thinks this is something that is better verbally briefed so will try and raise it properly in meetings over the next couple of weeks. Failing that, it may be worth adding it as an agenda item as part of a wider meeting.

Does that sound ok?

Many thanks

[NR] – we never got into raising this with the PM in the meetings.

We should think about how best to brief him at some point – can you check with Chris what he thinks is best. Probably post the 22nd. But we do need to give him a proper briefing at some point I think so he can separate what we know from what is speculation.

Spoken to Chris. He agrees that a verbally update is probably better so will try and raise it later. I talked him through your points which he thought were all very sensible.

If it doesn't get raised this afternoon then we can revisit the note.
