

[12/03/2020, 07:35:44] Mark Sedwill: Hi Chris

Thx for making the time. Good to see you. I was v struck by your point about differential mortality rates between healthy and sick.

I donâ€™t think PM & Co have internalised yet the distinction between minimising mortality and not trying to stop most people getting it. Indeed presumably like chicken pox we want people to get it and develop herd immunity before the next wave, we just want them not to get it all at once and preferably when itâ€™s warm and dry etc. So alongside the measures to achieve that, our driving focus should be on those most likely to die of it. Agree?

[12/03/2020, 07:36:45] Chris Wormald: Exactly right. We make the point every meeting, they donâ€™t quite get it