I think we have a plan that stands a chance on getting more use out of GoodSam. Helen Whately seems happy. We will crack on. Separately, you are apparently chairing Health MIG tomorrow. One of the issues is a review of shielding. If you agree, it would be really helpful if you could assert from the chair that we need to use this review to bring order to the shielded/non-shielded madness. Clinical evidence seems to suggest this is a continuum, not black and white - and so we need to approach policy response in this way. Right now, officials in MHCLG (not sure about Rob J' s view personally) insisting on strict and counter-productive separation of effort, which is both clinically wrong and is leading to people falling between the cracks.
