Thanks Chris

I have spoken to Frank and we both agree with your advice on this and will take no further action.

My own feeling Jean is that we cannot control or mediate this standoff between the RCUK and PHE.

Both claim to be evidence based.

I remain clear our position has to be that we support the PHE guidance informed by NERVTAG advice.

It is for organisations to consider what advice they wish to adopt.

Note the RCUK guidance is either not relevant to the community (no-one has PPE so perhaps they should not resuscitate anyone) or sets a different standard for HCWs and public despite the same risk.

Dear all

We need to discuss this latest statement from the Resus Council. I have been told that many of the Health Boards are now rejecting the PHE PPE guidance and our suggested compromise of covering the mouth and insisting the boards accept the Resus Council position. I think C&V is the latest in a line to go down this route. As I said before I wonder if we should have made a decision to just accept the Resus Council position as best practice for Wales given the level of distrust now apparent with the PHE PPE guidance. I would welcome a professional conversation about this.
