Urgent. Can we please ask NR to clear the operational guidance today on nosocomial infection inc face coverings in NHS settings. Dido says it can be pulled off by 5pm
- Natasha Price 05 Jun 2020 10:32 AM +00:00
Jenny Harries is concerned about this - this announcement doesn't cover the care sector - she said it would look bad if it doesn't, and we haven't warmed up care home stakeholder to it.
- OW 05 Jun 2020 10:02 AM +00:00
I may also need Steve Powis by my side to announce it
- ED 05 Jun 2020 10:03 AM +00:00
Natasha and I are on the case re NHSE
- ED 05 Jun 2020 10:03 AM +00:00

Pearson can come, but he'd have to get into London from Nottingham.
- ED 05 Jun 2020 10:34 AM +00:00
But could we not argue that hospitals are starting to consider relaxation for visitors now in a way that social care isn't
- NP 05 Jun 2020 10:35 AM +00:00
We can - just wanted you tba.

Why are we not saying it for social care? Can't we say that when social care visitations are relaxed, face coverings will be required?

Or just have some language that shows some leg

NP

Natasha Price 05 Jun 2020 10:49 AM +00:00

Jenny's view is that because we haven't spoken to care home stakeholders are all they are likely to be unaware of this and be critical of this rapid expectation - so would advise against announcing today. Could speak to her?

ED

Emma Dean 05 Jun 2020 10:49 AM +00:00

I think we would want to say it for social care, but not today

ED

Emma Dean 05 Jun 2020 10:50 AM +00:00

We can do as part of a social care package next week

JN

Jamie Njoku-Goodwin 05 Jun 2020 11:08 AM +00:00

Ok, as long as we aren't going to be criticised by stakeholders for NOT saying anything about doing this in social care...!

OW

Social Care is different. We can't say all residents wearing masks at all times. For the majority of care homes with no infections at all that would be nuts

We need a decision in next 10mins on David Pearson as he has to get train down. He is ready - shirt ironed etc. What do we think?
