Thanks - although we had a presentation on masks during one of the early meetings with GRW so it should be pretty obvious to someone at DHSC whether the masks/ PPE in the specification he's sent through is appropriate or not.

Has CDL seen the offer? This was one that was in my correspondence/ steer pack either yesterday or today...

CDL knows him (if it's the same guy i'm thinking of) so just want to make sure its not getting lost in the system. I don't understand the reply about Beijing.

 Hi all

David Mellor has contacted me again, can we at least send him a holding response given he's passed information on to us three times now? Should DHSC respond to him given it's PPE?

Subject: Corona Virus protecting products direct from Manufacturer

As manufacturers of masks and other protective gear, we are doing our best to meet the huge demand brought on by the Corona Virus pandemic. As manufacturers overseeing the production schedule, we carry all the relevant quality certificates (attached to this mail).

We are doing our best to ship products to multiple customers at the same time, while performing quality checks for all raw materials, operating our automatic production line (working 24/7) and shipping out any products we have. During such extraordinary circumstances, we are doing our best to reply as quickly as possible to every inquiry we get.

We purchase the raw material as soon as we receive payment to start production. We are still accepting a 50% deposit and balance before shipment. This allows us to purchase the raw materials required to maintain production capacity. We aim to keep the price as stable as possible, though it is subject to changes based on raw material costs.

A note on the attached file – currently the major production pressures concern the face masks, therefore the excel file has only a few more product options. Details will be advised after getting a request with the quantity per product.

We also carry all other relevant products (including testing kits that return results within 15 min) - feel free to send a request for any of the products you are interested in and we will advise about supplying them.

Order Terms:

Payment – 50% deposit + 50% before shipment / 100% in advance

Terms – prices are Ex-Work China

shipments – we can assist with air shipment with full payment in advance

Certificates – attached to this mail

Delivery time – subject to demand and raw material availability
